

"TYPOS" DEMAND PAPER INQUIRY

Printers Call for "Something More Substantial Than Perfunctory Investigation."

(By the International News Service.) Baltimore, Md., Aug. 14.—Charging that manufacturers and middlemen in the white paper trade have entered into a combination which threatens to strangle some newspapers, President Marston Scott, of the International Typographical Union, yesterday demanded that action should be taken to protect those affected. His demand was made at a meeting of the sixty-second annual convention of the union.

"Something more substantial than a perfunctory investigation" of the increased cost of white paper was demanded of Congress.

"The grip of the rising paper market is throttling the life out of many struggling newspapers and commercial printing houses," said President Marston Scott, in his annual report to the convention. "Due to the increased cost of paper, many publishers have been forced to reduce the number of printed pages, and, if the price of paper is not kept in check, there will be a falling away in printed matter that will force on the unemployed list thousands of those engaged in the printing industry."

That hundreds of public schools are giving instruction in printing which is harmful to the pupil and the trade was charged by delegates to the convention. It was said that the benefits that would come from vocational training have been lost in attempting industrial development of the student.

The result has been that semi-skilled workers have been crowded into the printing industry. The union contends that the normal needs of the trade are not taken into consideration and that apprentices are coming in faster than they can be cared for.

Charlotte, N. C., Aug. 14.—Publishers and business managers of morning and afternoon newspapers of North Carolina will meet in joint conference at Greensboro tomorrow morning to discuss the white paper problem.

NEW LIGHTS FOR LONDON.

Reduce Glare and Add to Area Lighted.

London, Aug. 14.—A new shade for lamps, which will improve the lighting of the darkened streets, has been invented by an official of the Board of Trade. The shade cuts off all direct rays and does away with the circle of light which was thrown down on the roadway or pavement.

The invention, which has passed satisfactory tests, throws the light down upon one concave reflector, and up again upon another, and by its rise a greater area of roadway can be lighted without adding to the general volume of light.

WOULD SINK "SUBS" OF DEUTSCHLAND TYPE

London Service Journal Says Submarine Traders Should Be Held as Enemy Warships.

That the governments of the allied nations have decided that submarines of the type of the Deutschland must be regarded as outside the law, and must be destroyed as enemy warships on sight, is the statement of The Naval and Military Record of London, one of the three leading service papers of Great Britain, in its issue of July 29, copies of which reached New York yesterday. The Record is one of the mouthpieces of the British navy, and its comments on the status of the Deutschland are of peculiar interest at this time, when the submersible is dodging about in the Atlantic trying to make her home port in safety.

"We know a good deal more today about the submarine," says The Record, "than we did two years ago. The undersea boat is no longer a small, frail craft to be 'mothered' by a big ship possessing an extremely limited range of action, and carrying a few torpedoes only for offensive purposes. We are familiar now with submarines of large size; some of them are equipped with guns of considerable size, as well as torpedo tubes, and others are designed for the laying of mines. Within a few months of the opening of the war ten underwater craft, which had been built in Canada for their own power, crossed the Atlantic under British ownership. Even before the date British submarines had been piloted to the Mediterranean and to the Far East."

"SLAVERS" LURE GIRLS IN SURF

All but One of Twenty Victims Found by Authorities Were Schoolgirls.

Special to The Washington Herald. New York, Aug. 14.—Near-by beaches, intended to be the safe pleasure ground and "breathing spot" of the masses, have been used by paid procurers of the Vice Trust in luring young girl victims. This additional revelation was made today by Yushe Botwin, "king of white slavers."

Botwin said that to his knowledge not less than 1,000 of the 10,000 girls taken from their homes and sold into "white slavery" had been first approached at neighboring resorts. Conscienceless men pictured to them the allurements of a life of ease while idling on the sands or playing in the surf.

"It is the easiest place to meet the kind of girls needed in the business," Botwin said, as if talking of any other transaction.

Botwin gave Assistant District Attorney James E. Smith the names of fully twenty victims he thought could be found at one of the shore resorts. Acting immediately on this information, Lieut. Costigan led a squad of detectives to the beach yesterday afternoon.

In less than two hours ten girl witnesses has been subpoenaed. These girls were all victims of the vice trust. They were led astray—with a single exception—while not yet out of the grammar school. One girl was at the time only 13 years old.

Filleted with Schoolgirls.

According to statements made the agents of the vice trust have mingled with returning crowds on late trains and cars from the resorts. They have made the acquaintance of school girls in home neighborhoods and then taken them to the shore resorts late at night.

On the beaches well-dressed young men enter into what at first seems an innocent flirtation. The trustful and inexperienced young girl is led from the beach to the night cafes and cabarets. It will be testified that there are dives where knockout drops are put in drinks served to young girls.

Sometimes the first day spells ruin to the girl who trusts the stranger she meets in the surf or on the sand. In other cases, witnesses declare, it was many days or weeks before finally, when too late, the girl found herself hopelessly entrapped.

The criminals usually have women in league with them. These women picture the delights of an easy life and tell of rich clothing, nightly dances, sparkling gems that are offered a girl for the asking. When the victims cannot possibly turn back they find the picture false and the promises a delusion.

"LIFE FOR MEN OF RED BLOOD," SAYS RECRUIT

Letter to President from Guardsman Describes Camp Life as Ideal at Border.

President Wilson yesterday got an Iowa infantry private's word for it that life in the military camps on the Mexican border is just the sort of life "that young men with red blood in their veins would like to lead."

A description of the camp life was given in a letter to the President written by a member of Company F, First Iowa Infantry, at San Benito, Tex., whose name is withheld, in answer to criticisms of the way the militia has been treated, which, he says is for "political material."

The letter was made public by the War Department yesterday afternoon with a letter from Dr. Eugene A. Crockett, reporting to Col. J. R. Keane, director general of military relief to the American Red Cross, that health conditions on the border were excellent. Another letter was from a father of a member of the Georgia militia, who said he had inspected Camp Harris, the State mobilization camp, and found conditions "nearly perfect."

Diseases That Show in Your Face?

We may have in our ability as mind readers, all of us by life-long practice are face readers. A considerable part of our attitude toward our fellows is determined by what we see in their faces. Most of us have become surprisingly accurate face readers in regard to moral and emotional tendencies. And we also read just as well when the face indicates either internal or external disease. The tense, drawn features, indicating continued pain from some internal ailment, or the breaking out of one of the many skin diseases, which speak only too plainly for themselves, because most, if not all, skin diseases show on the face sooner or later. Impure, impoverished or impaired blood are the prime causes of disease. Therefore the blood should be nourished, as well as purified.

One of the striking changes in modern medication is the way the use of iron for blood troubles has decreased. It was discovered that iron was not a blood food. When people are suffering from blood troubles they need a remedy that will not only drive out the impurities, but that will nourish the blood at the same time—S. S. S., the standard blood purifier for 50 years, is purely vegetable and will absolutely drive out the impurities and nourish and tone up the entire system, both physical and nervous. Purify and nourish your blood by taking S. S. S. If you need special advice, write Medical Department, Room 18, Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Ga.—Adv.
